HONDO, TEXAS, OCT. 1, 1926.

One never goes astray by going right!

Hope is the bridge that spans the chasm of despair!

To never to yourself admit defeat
Is a practice ever the most discreet!

If you want to encourage an independent farm paper that is not afraid to discuss politics as well as peanuts with the producers send us two dollars for a five-year's engagement with FARMING. You will not be disappointed.

We want our friends to help us circulate FARMING where it will do the most good. Bring it to the attention of your neighbors and friends, or better still send us a couple of dollars and the name of yourself and three others and each get the paper for a year. Your friendly assistance will be appreciated.

One wonders if the findings of Lee Satterwhite and his smelling committee in its efforts to discredit Jim Ferguson will be accepted by Earl Mayfield as liquidation of Dan Moody's debt to him for the delivering to the said Dan Moody of the votes of Earl's fellow kuxuk cohorts in his race for governor? Respectfully referred to Whit Davidson for further elucidation. Oh, the memories of these politicians!

There are some proposed Amendments to the State Constitution to be voted on at the coming November election. You had better "wise yourself" to their proposals before voting on them. There is a dangerous tendency in most latter-day Amendment proposals to drift away from the old land-marks of safety set by the fathers of our constitutions—both state and national.

Early cold weather in the market has no doubt affected the marketability of much late maturing corn in the Northern corn belt, and one ought reasonably to expect a stiffening of the corn market some thereby. But whatever the trend of the market or the temptation to sell, the practice of some thrifty farmers of our acquaintance of holding back two or more year's supply on the farm until a new crop is assured next season will continue to be the wisest policy.

The investigation committee (God save the name) could save itself a lot of bother and the state some annoyance and expense by writing out its report now and going home. As constituted, one can but believe that its purpose is not to "investigate" per se but to "produce" something on Jim that, in the form of a report will constitute a political speech in opposition to his candidacy for the United States Senate two years from now. Such a report would be as acceptable to the hate squad and just as credible as what will be reported later on. Why prolong the farce?

"WHEN MY KIDDIES CALL ME DAD".

Ah, there was a sweetly swelling titillation
Of the vibrant heartchords—ah, ha!—
Though it ne'er could be expressed,
When baby lips first lisped,
In cadence sweet, the word "Papa"!

And "Father" breathes a sense of stately dignity and poise
That stirs the deepest depths of one's desire.
To measure up to something proud and grand,
Something in which they'll rejoice,
Just because he's his children's sire!

But the dearest, the sweetest term of all—
That comes to me and makes me glad,
Because 'tis freighted with sweet comradeship
And the love that knows its pal—
Is when my kiddies call me "Dad"!

—Fletcher Davis.

Could people hold themselves up before a mental ex-ray and view themselves in all their inconsistencies and absurdities they must die either in amusement at the comedy or shame at the tragedy of it all. The hypocrisy of the present day can scarcely find a parallel any where in recorded history. In a governmental capacity, we make a brave show as a nation of dry-law adherents and pour out tax-money with a lavish hand in a pretended enforcement of prohibition. In practice, the post-office carries through the mails newspapers freighted with advertisements of kitchen distilleries, papers that used to fight the legal sale of beer like they were battling for Gideon and the Lord now advertise the ingredients for making illicit beer, whiskey and beer bottle stoppers are a regular stock in trade in many stores, and drug stores that will not fill a legitimate prescription for whiskey will sell you the corks for corking up your illegal moonshine. It seems to be an undisputed acceptance that all who care to do so are supplying themselves with whatever home brew they want. This in itself is not so bad, for the processes of distillation and fermentation are simple within themselves, and the product of a capable home-brewer is decidedly more wholesome and less injurious than much of the stuff formerly dispensed over the bars of the licensed saloon. It is in the doctored booze or the product of the synthetic process that the chief danger to physical health and life lies. But the physical harm is small compared to the social and moral harm that is to come from this flagrant flouting of the laws of the land. No brave people with power to repeal will long tolerate a law it does not approve; no honorable people will dishonor the laws of its country while they stand. Are we, by revealing this law through evasion, to write ourselves down as dishonest cowards and leave such a heritage to our children? This thought should give pause to every individual with any regard for his own honor or conscious duty owed to posterity.

Cotton is selling at this writing at less than the cost of its production and the entire South is suffering, as a consequence, stagnation in business when every thing should be buzzing and humming with industrial activity and prosperity. Of course, the man who has incurred financial obligations that are due and secured for payment by the cotton crop can do nothing else safely or honorably but liquidate and take his losses. To do otherwise is to bite the hand, so to speak, that has fed him. But for the man who can hold his cotton and refuse to sell for less than a reasonable profit without impairing his credit not to do so is little short of economic crime. What would be thought of the sense of a manufacturer who would dispose of an accumulated surplus at a loss over its cost of production and then proceed to manufacture a new supply on which he would have to run the same risk of loss? The farmer who sacrifices one crop at a loss and then proceeds to plan for another under the same risk is in the same class as such a manufacturer. If instead of planning a new crop the cost of it was invested in permanent storage facilities for storing and holding the present crop and the land be utilized for producing other needed crops or even allowed to lie fallow the grower would eventually find himself better off financially than he can ever hope to be otherwise.

Every man or woman who has occasion to write a business letter or social one either, for that matter, should use printed stationery. Neatly printed stationery is second only to the contents of one's letter in gaining the attention and favorable consideration of the one addressed. If you have never tried this put our suggestion to a practical test. Of course, the beauty and effect will be greatly enhanced by giving your farm a pretty and attractive name.

They are playing politics low down in the legislature at Austin. Democratic usage and time-honored precedent count for nothing where the gaining of partisan advantage is thought to be possible. The adherent to the "yellow dog" brand of politics ought to find much of comfort in the goings-on there!

Miss Morgan was Baxter's "peach," the girl whose photograph now occupied one of the silver frames on Baxter's bureau. Baxter was home, asleep, the girl was on duty. There were shadows under her eyes but there was a flush in her cheeks as she stared at Caleb with an interrogation that was almost a challenge, before she bent to her work as Cox went on with the letter.

Caleb imagined what she was wondering. He had been mentioned to her by name by Baxter. She was trying to guess whether Baxter had done the same by her, whether Caleb had seen her photograph, what chance had brought him to the private office and her into it on the same occasion?

Caleb's face showed nothing and, when the letter was ended, he was again reading the Journal. Nor did he look up when the girl left at Cox's "that is all, Miss Morgan." He did not wish to embarrass the girl. What she did in her own time was, if it did not prove detrimental to her duties, her own affair—most certainly not his. She did not return. A few minutes later the secretary came quietly in with the letter of introduction which Cox read, signed, slid into its unsealed envelope and passed to Caleb.

"Present that at the gate to the watchman," he said. "He will get you in touch with Hinckley. The car is yours for the day."

He waved aside all thanks but he left Caleb pondering why he, with no other medium than Baxter's introduction and the fact that he had been in the same war with Jack Cox, and was a civil engineer with a professed leaning toward water development, should be tendered so many courtesies by this man of affairs. Western hospitality could not suffice for this. He surmised that Cox might be in special need of engineers but such a premise was only barely probable. And you don't appear that. The place is at Beaver Lake, in Stanislaus county. You'll be roughing it for accommodations, of course. But it'll be good practice in western methods. I fancy you'll find them different from eastern. Different type of labor, for one thing."

Caleb did not immediately fill the pause. He had made up his mind to study the Golden proposition. It did not seem possible that he should discover something that Cox and his experts had overlooked on their own ground but that nebulous thought was still persistent.

"Thank you. I shall be glad to consider it," he said finally. "Do you wish immediate acceptance?"

"Make up your mind before the first of the month."

There were sixteen days between then and the first of the next month. Time enough, Caleb thought, to do something with his theory, prove or discard it.

They walked up together to the Altruists. Caleb thought that Baxter tell you that water is the life-blood of a city. It runs in its mains, in its flushing system, as it does through the arteries and veins of a body. Overbuild, without water, and you have atrophy, as you cannot expect the blood that is sufficient for a child to sustain the body of a full-grown man. We know today exactly how many gallons per capita we must figure on for a modern city with domestic, civic and manufacturing supply. The number of gallons in our reservoirs, divided by that ratio, marks the present limits of Golden's population, of its progress. The statement was almost unnecessary to Caleb but he said nothing.

"The 'peach' is turning out to be a citron. She's nice enough and a good sport and I believe she's fond of me. She says she is," he went on moodily. "And I've got to take her word for it. She wants me to marry her. And I can't. I won't. Whether it's the square thing to do or not. It wouldn't be the square thing. We'd be fighting in a month. We're miles apart in most things. You know, Cal."

"She thinks you have to marry her?"

"So she says. I can't disprove it. I'm not saying she lies. I might buy her off. I haven't got the money. She won't listen to reason—about the 'kid.'"

"It seems to me that's up to her. How long have you known her, Ted?"

"Little over two months. Her picture's on my bureau. In one of the silver frames. Just put it there. Oh, h—!" He threw away his unsmoked cigar.

"What do you want me to do? See her? I—"

"No, that wouldn't do any good. But, we had a bit of a row. I suppose I didn't take the news gracefully. She swears I don't love her. Perhaps she doesn't altogether believe that—but she might. It's the truth, when you come right down to brass tacks. I suppose I'm a mucker but I honestly believe I'd be a worse one if I married her."

"Well?"

"She talked about going away—till it was over with. She's a crackjack of a stenographer. She can earn her own living anywhere when she's not handicapped. I think I could fix things so she would go. If I could raise the money to look out for her while she goes through with the thing. She's set to do that," he added gloomily. "Tried to reason with her but it was no go."

"It would take a couple of thousand dollars," he went on, talking more rapidly. "I've got a deal on. I've got some parties who want to buy land for a little colony. A bona-fide proposition and I'm handling it direct. I should make at least twenty thousand out of the deal. It's ripe. Got to come off pretty soon. But I'm stumped as usual. You know that. What the mater sends just sees me through. I may have to raise some for an option. Could you let me have the two thousand, Cal? I don't know might be there. Instead, there was a message to call up the apartment house.

"Want to see you, Cal," said Baxter. "If you haven't anything on that's important come for a spin with me. I know a little roadhouse over the San Mateo line where we can get some good chow."

As they motored Baxter commented on Cox's attitude.

"You don't owe me anything," he said. "Get that out of your head, for it is exactly what Cox meant to put into it. About the Beaver Lake job, Cox is one of those divided interests that have come together. Each side owned rights they wouldn't sell. I got to know about it over a real estate deal of my own—that didn't come off. Can't you see that it will be to Cox's advantage to have a man up there of his own choosing, on whose reports he can absolutely rely? That's why he's been nice to you—nothing much out of the way, at that. It's what you'd call using the personal element, I suppose."

Caleb was convinced that Baxter had something on his mind concerning his own affairs but he did not refer to them until the excellent lunch was finished.

"I'm in a mess, Cal," he said when the waiter was tipped and dismissed. "Anything I can do, Ted?"

"I don't know. I want to talk it over. It's a girl."

The statement was almost unnecessary to Caleb but he said nothing. "The 'peach' is turning out to be a citron. She's nice enough and a good sport and I believe she's fond of me. She says she is," he went on moodily. "And I've got to take her word for it. She wants me to marry her. And I can't. I won't. Whether it's the square thing to do or not. What the mater sends just sees me through. I may have to raise some for an option. Could you let me have the two thousand, Cal? I don't know where else to go and I don't want to go shouting this thing about all over the shop."

"I've got just eleven hundred dollars in the bank here," said Caleb slowly. "If I take up Cox's proposition I'll not need more than two hundred of that to carry me over till the first pay check. I have a house back East I can sell. The deal might take a week or so. They take their time there to pass deeds. But . . ."

Baxter groaned, his head in his hands.

"It's got to be two thousand, I'm afraid. You see if she goes away she'd be sore at me. I'd have to make her sore and she'd want the whole thing. And I won't have you selling your house. It wouldn't do any good. She'll change her mind inside of two weeks. It isn't so d—d imminent. She won't have to quit her job for a bit. At a pinch I'll make the mater come through. For the honor of the family!" He laughed sarcastically.

"If she can chip off a hunk of the principal for herself once in a while, she can do it for me—once. The money was meant for me eventually. And, if it's put right up to her, she'll handle the girl, too, rather than hinder her own matrimonial prospects, as a scandal would. Now let's take a run down to the duck club. I'm secretary and I've got to give the shack the overlook before the season opens."

Within the hour, tramping through the marshes to the shooting shack, he seemed to have forgotten his dilemma completely but one sentence, an epitome of Baxter's character, clung to Caleb. "Oh, I can stall along." He remembered, too, the hint of sullen stubbornness that had shadowed the girl's pouting lips.

CHAPTER V

Crystal Springs

Hinckley, head engineer of the Crystal Springs company, met the car at the outer gate of the property. He was a short, stout, but active man, with gold-rimmed spectacles over shrewd blue eyes about which spread a network of fine lines that spoke for humor and long habit of puckering under sun-glare. He reminded Caleb somehow of an apple, firm and glowing and sound.

They rolled swiftly on through a strange region and a beautiful one. Sometimes they skirted a hillside where chapparal, manzanita and kindred shrubs grew in a shoulder-high tangle that seemed too thick for anything less agile than a squirrel to explore. Beneath them flourished great ferns. Through them Caleb caught glimpses of lakes lying far below, bits of blue far deeper than the sky they mirrored and intensified.

They turned abruptly to their right where the road ran beside a purling stream and boughs knitted overhead. The descent was gradual and the car slid along noiselessly.

"Here's the brick dam, a bit primitive but a godsend to Golden in the old days," said Hinckley.

It was a beautiful sheet of water above the dam, set in the silence of a wooded canyon but they did not spend much time with it. Hinckley pointed directly across the water to a V-shaped gap in the opposing slopes.

"There's the big dam," he said. "I want you to notice the laterals, the earth dams that divide the lake into three. See anything funny about 'em?"

Caleb gazed earnestly. On each side of these dams was set a gatehouse. Their tops were roads with the sides fenced. And these roads were serpentine.

"Any reason for not building them straight from shoe to shore?" he asked. Hinckley emitted a satisfied sigh.

"Ah! They were built straight. The

DEVINE NEWSLETS.

From the Devine News.

Miss Teel Wins Local Postmastership

After about one year of wire pulling and hard work by the friends of various candidates Miss Teel has landed the Postmastership of Devine over all opponents; and on the last day of September, our notary public administered the oath of office to Miss Teel, and furnished her with a Maryland Casualty Bond for $10,000 and she was proclaimed the first woman postmaster—yes, we do not say postmistress any more and she took over the management, assisted by Mr. Bendele, who had been serving as temporary postmaster for the time since Mr. Aldridge, Democrat, was removed. While his friends were trying to hold Mr. Aldridge in the office, influential Republicans succeeded in placing Mr. Bendele, a young man scarcely attaining his majority, in the office, but in the civil service Mr. Bendele lost to his first assistant, Miss Teel, and the order is reversed; but in the meanwhile both of these young people have had a lot of experience and are as good friends as on the day when he was postmaster and she was assistant. Miss Teel is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Teel, born and reared in Devine, and through her father qualified as a genuine Republican, and the News feels sure Miss Teel will make good. Mr. J. A. Aldridge, who after 8 years will retire from the office has been one of the most accommodating postmasters Devine has ever had, and during several years service as postmaster at Calaveras before coming here, has been in the service as postmaster for about a quarter of a century. The Devine office is a third-class office and is far on the road towards a second-class.

School Will Have Class In Agriculture.

Principal A. D. Armentrout informs us that he has started a class in Agriculture in the High school. He will try to get a small irrigated tract of land and give his class actual lessons in farming. Last year his class in gardening learned many useful lessons and made a neat little farm off their garden, cultivated it; but with an irrigated plot hope for coming season to do much better. He was looking for a special agricultural director this week from the educational department and will report results later.

Joseph Congregation Has Big Day

Last Sunday was a big day in St. Joseph's Catholic circles of Devine. Many visitors were present from Hondo, including all the county officials and candidates, a large delegation from LaCoste, and many from Hanis and Castroville. After regular services at the church conducted by their very popular pastor, Rev. Leo. Goertz, the entire congregation and visitors repaired to Kempf's Park and enjoyed a fine barbecue dinner supplemented by many good things to eat and drink. The afternoon was spent in social conversation and harmless amusements by the young people. These people study to entertain their young people and hold them together and are succeeding better than most churches along this line.

SOME MISTAKES CORRECTED.

It has come to my notice that certain false statements are being circulated, which are false, and likely to injure my race for Sheriff, of this county, if not corrected; and I am taking this method of entering an unqualified denial to each and all of them.

1. It has been stated that I was once a deputy sheriff under the present incumbent and was discharged by him. This is untrue. I have never been a deputy sheriff in Medina County.

2. It has been circulated that I am or have been a member of the Ku Klux Klan. This is also untrue. I have never at any time been a member of the Klan, nor had any affiliation with the order.

I am running for this office upon my record as a citizen of Medina County for the past ten years; and if elected will discharge the duties of the office, to the best of my skill and ability without fear or favor to any one.

Very respectfully,
E. L. BROD.

Thanking one and all for your patronage in the past, I wish to announce that I will again teach piano and all orchestra instruments at my home studio.

No Worms in a Healthy Child

All children troubled with Worms have an unhealthy color, which indicates poor blood, and as a rule, there is more or less stomach disturbance. GROVE'S TASTELESS chill TONIC given regularly for two or three weeks will enrich the blood, improve the digestion, and act as a General Strengthening Tonic to the whole system. Nature will then throw off or dispel the worms, and the Child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 60c per bottle.

A TONIC

Grove's Tasteless chill Tonic restores Energy and Vitality by Purifying and Enriching the Blood. When you feel its strengthening, invigorating effect, see how it brings color to the cheeks and how it improves the appetite, you will then appreciate its true tonic value.

Grove's Tasteless chill Tonic is simply Iron and Quinine suspended in syrup. So pleasant even children like it. The blood needs QUININE to Purify it and IRON to Enrich it. Destroys Malarial germs and Grip germs by its Strengthening, Invigorating Effect. 60c.

MRS. I. H. KING DEAD.

Mrs. I. H. King died at her home Wednesday night at 9 o'clock P. M. Her remains were buried in a family plot in the old cemetery Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock, pastor, Rev. W. S. Ezell, performing the last sad rites, assisted by Rev. J. W. Long, son-in-law of the departed.

Mrs. King was nearly 78 years old, had lived nearly all her life here, having come here as a pioneer in frontier days. She is survived by her husband to whom she was married some fifty-eight years ago. History of her life would be a story of much of the Hondo community.

We have asked for a biographical sketch of this good Christian woman that will be befitting the long and honorable career she has spent here and forego further reference at this time.

This paper joins in the general sorrow over her passing.

HONDO WILL CELEBRATE.

Hondo will celebrate Armistice day, November 11th, in a befitting manner. This fact was definitely settled at the mass meeting held at the Chamber of Commerce hall Wednesday night.

A report from the finance committee soliciting funds for the occasion disclosed that something over $400.00 has been subscribed and the campaign for funds is not yet complete. This liberal response, and the assurance that those yet to be solicited could be equally generous made the management feel justified in proceeding with the plans for the celebration.

Fifteen young fat beebes will be barbecued, and a sufficient quantity of bread, pickles, coffee, etc., to accompany the meat will be provided. Speaking, music, horse racing and other out-of-door amusements will be provided for the entertainment of the crowd.

The management of the barbecue and its attendant features has been turned over now to the members of the local post of the American Legion, and the following appointments have been made:

C. J. Bless, Marshall.
Felix Batot, J. J. Droicourt,
Richard Reilly, John Finger and Dr. H. Smith, Gate Keepers.

Ernest Boehlen, Joe Palle, Louis Bell, A. W. Hornung and Aug. E. Feynand, Committee on Tables and Tents.

Andrew Bless, Felix Richter and Geo. Schuehle, Committee on Bread and other Incidentals.

Clyde Holloway, Dr. O. B. Taylor, Geo. Beal and Earl O'Neal, Committee on Barbecue.

Gus Rothe and Guido Richter, Committee on Beef.

Mimke Weimers, Committee on Coffee.

E. A. de Montel, Committee on Advertising, Insurance, and Public Speaking.

Garland Martin and Ed. Ney, Committee on Lumber.

E. A. de Montel, Guido Richter, and Andrew Bless, Committee on Finance.

These Committees will need all the help, both by the way of constructive suggestion and assistance in performing the work, that they can get. So if you wish to help along any line see the proper committee man.

Having undertaken the enterprise is now up to every citizen with any pride for his city to do what he can to see that it is carried out to a successful conclusion that will be creditable to our town and community.

QUIHI NOTES.

Sunday will be a day of more than ordinary interest at Bethlehem Lutheran Church. On this day the annual Mission Sunday will be observed. Three services will be held, and the speakers of the day will be Rev. A. L. Wolff of San Antonio, Rev. Prof. W. J. Gerner of Seguin and possibly Rev. G. Langner of Knippa. The forenoon service begins at 10 o'clock, the afternoon service at 2:30 o'clock and the night service at 7:30 P. M. All are cordially invited to come and enjoy the several interesting discourses to be delivered on the topic of the day, as well as the musical selection of the church choir.

Sunday, Oct. 24, the Quihi Luther League will give an interesting program in Bethlehem Lutheran Church. Aside of several fine selections by the church choir, the following numbers are scheduled to be rendered: Readings by Miss Emma Nietenhoefer, and Messrs. Alvin Balzen, Albert Eckhart and Alfred Neumann; musical numbers by Quihi Male Quartet led by Mr. Anton Grell, instrumental led by Miss Annie Schuehle, vocal selections by Misses Bertha Oefinger and Lorine Saathoff; declamation by Miss Eileen Hartmann. All are cordially invited to come and hear this program.

The Ladies Aid Society of Bethlehem Lutheran Church held a very interesting meeting last Thursday in the old Lutheran Church. The meeting was well attended. A donation for the New Braunfels mission was voted and an interesting paper read. The hostesses of the occasion were Mesdames John Balzen, D. G. Reitzer and Grandma Neumann.

Last Sunday the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Schuehle received the sacrament of holy baptism in the Lutheran church. The little lady was given the name of Jeraldine Mae. The parents acted as sponsors. The whole congregation joined in the beautiful and impressive service.

A DARING SUCCESS.

The Warner Brothers have done a daring and extremely interesting thing in bringing "Broken Hearts of Hollywood" to the screen and they deserve the huge success which has greeted their efforts. The picture which comes to the Colonial Theatre on Oct. 28th and 29th is the first honest attempt to take the drama that lies at hand in and about the screen studios, and present it in the grim reality of the failure that attends most movie inspirations.

The screen is something so enveloped in glamor that it took courage for producers to strip it of its cloak of illusion and to show the tragedy that is hidden behind the glitter. It was a worthy task, bravely done, and the result is something that should make a deep impression upon any parents who contemplate allowing their children to enter pictures, and upon the children themselves.

In the telling of the story such stars as Patsy Ruth Miller, Louise Dresser, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Stuart Holmes, Jerry Miley, Barbara Worth, Sam Le Grasse and Emile Chautard play important roles. Adapted from the original story written by Raymond Schrock and Edward Clark, "Broken Hearts of Hollywood" portrays the real Hollywood, everybody's Hollywood—city of dreams and of despair! Of darkness and of light. And it is told by its own people—for the tears and mirth of all people!

GETTING PRACTICAL LESSONS.

Prof. E. L. Dorrough, Bill Wheeler, Ray Reaves, Elmer Fofhn, Robert Hardt, Walton McCaughan, Barnett McCaughan, Horace Fohn, Jack Burgin, Edgar Muennink, Rollie Chisum, Walter Chisum, Leslie Saathoff, Olen Brieden, Marvin Brown, Wayne Bandy and Nathan Lanford were visitors at the Anvil Herald office Thursday afternoon.

The above is not a roster of the future men of the Yancey community exactly, but they will be men all right in the full meaning of the term if they pursue their present course.

It is a list of Prof. Dorrough's agricultural class at the Yancey High School. They came up to visit Hondo's gins and get some practical instruction in cotton classing. While here they also visited the printing office and were interested in some of the practical phases which they saw of the art preservative of arts.

Young people in search of knowledge are always welcome visitors at this shop.

MRS. UPTON McGARY PASSES AWAY.

Mrs. Emma Cornelia McGary, nee Smith, was born in Yadkin College, Davidson County, North Carolina, September 17, 1858. Her father joined the Confederate Army a few years after her birth and died before the close of the war, while he was in the service of the Confederacy. She was still in her early childhood when her mother also passed away. At this time her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Walser, took her, and she was reared by them. They were ardent Christians and devoted members and supporters of the Methodist Church of their community. They also were loyal supporters of the Methodist College, from which their town took its name. It was no doubt due to their fine Christian influence that their granddaughter united with the Church during her childhood, and that those impressions were made which set her character permanently in the "upward way".

On Jan. 10, 1894, the subject of this sketch was united in marriage to Mr. Upton McGary at Giddings, Texas. To this union there was born one child, Stanton U. McGary, who now makes his home in Houston, Texas. Besides her husband and son, she has one grandchild, aged fifteen months, who survives her.

Mr. and Mrs. McGary lived a number of years in Eagle Pass, after which they moved to Hondo. Mrs. McGary placed her membership in the Hondo Methodist Church in May 1915, her Certificate having been received by Rev. J. M. Alexander, and she was a faithful and consistent member until the time of her death. For a number of years she was seldom seen away from home. This was due to affliction. However, her optimistic, sunny spirit made those about her feel that her health was good. It was only a few days before the end that she grew very sick, and she continued to grow steadily weaker until quietly and peacefully on October 7th in the early hours of night she fell asleep.

The funeral service was conducted at the Methodist Church, the writer officiating with the assistance of Rev. Horace King, who concluded the service at the Cemetery. All the family and near relatives were present, together with a number of friends. We commend the bereaved husband and son of this good woman to the mercy and grace of God, who alone is able to sustain and comfort them in these hours of trial.

W. S. EZELL, Pastor
Hondo Methodist Church.

SCOUT EXECUTIVE ADDRESSES GOOD CROWD SUNDAY.

Last Sunday morning Mr. M. M. Fulmer, Scout Executive for the Southwest Texas Area Council Boy Scouts of America, of which we are a part, addressed a good crowd at the Methodist Church here. The Baptists gave way their morning service to join in attendance.

Mr. Fulmer, who is just entering the work as Executive of our council, is a graduate of the National Training School for Scout Executives and is an expert in his line.

In his address Mr. Fulmer stressed the fact that the boys are our greatest assets, for they are the "men of tomorrow." If we would grow big men we must grow big boys. The Scout Movement offers a program that the boys like and at the same time makes for the best in character development. The Scout motto is "Be Prepared" and he must do a "good turn daily" for which he receives no pay. The Scout Oath embodies the relationships that we sustain to God and Country, to others, and to ourselves. This is the oath every scout takes:—

"On my honor I will do my best: (1) To do my duty to God and my Country and to obey the Scout Law. (2) To help other people at all times. (3) To keep myself physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight."

Mr. Fulmer stressed the fact that the movement co-operated to the fullest extent with the home, the church and the school. The Scout movement is a program that adapts itself in a helpful way to every worthy institution.

The address was closed with the emphasis upon the greatest need in Scouting which is consecrated adult leadership. The movement will fail unless we have leaders and they of the right kind.

Mr. Fulmer will be in Hondo and other parts of Medina County regularly each month and desires to know you. Let's make it a point to get acquainted with him and show our interest in the great work in which he is leading us.

ANOTHER WELL SPUDDED.

Mr. Bloomquist of the Medina Oil Company informs us that No. 8 is still holding up in production, and promises to be in a class with No. 1, the Wonder Well of this County. The Company spudded in No. 9 Thursday. The new location is 300 feet Southwest of No. 8, and unless all geological signs fail should strike the same oil strata that is furnishing the production in Nos. 1 and 8.

Texas Company is about ready to bail its first test in the Ina field in Medina County and Schermerhorn Oil Company is drilling in its No. 4 irrigation company land test in Medina southwest of Noonan. Arnett Oil Company has pulled the small casing in its No. 4 Nixon and is re-setting for a new test.—Thursday's Express.

Ina Oil Company completed the fishing job on the Finger tract well in Medina County on survey 746, at 832 feet and is resuming work and expecting to pick up an oil showing soon. The cable tools were moved off and the rotary put on in order to ream down and be able to get over the lost tools. It was successful the first attempt and the hole is clear.—Thursday's Express.

Armstrong's test in Medina County on the Lacy farm northwest of Hondo is in Buda lime at 330 feet. It topped the chalk at 130 feet and had 50 feet of the chalk. The No. 1 King got the top of the chalk at 360 and the Switzer test three and a half miles west got the top of the chalk at 460. The Lacy test is between the two and is getting the formations somewhat higher.

Witherspoon got a 6,500,000 cubic foot gas well in his No. 1 Adams in Medina County.

Schermerhorn Oil Company is bailing the No. 4 irrigation company land well and getting only a little oil and a little water. The water may be the drilling fluid.

Western Gas and Fuel Company is down about 1,200 feet in its No. 1 Adams.—Friday's Express.

FARMING

From now until Jan. 1928 for the price of one year. With or without club—see club offers.

FORTY-TWO CLUB.

An entertainment of charming appointment occurred Thursday evening when Mrs. P. Jungman, Mrs. L. E. Heath and Miss Heath were hostesses to the "42" club.

A profusion of flaming yellow cosmos in baskets surrounded with huge black bows effectively carried out the Halloween colors. A large pan of water, in which luscious red apples bobbed, excited the curiosity of the guests until it was learned that each winner of an "84" bid would bob for an apple. Quite a few were successful in getting their apples, though devious methods were resorted to in accomplishing this time-old feat.

After a search for black cat tallies hidden about the room, partners were found for the games, of which seven were played, Mrs. F. H. Schweers winning high score—six games.

After the games, orange sherbert and date loaf with whipped cream was served at tables decorated to correspond with the chosen motif to the following: Mesdames Horace Bradley, Laura Welhausen, Felix Batot, Oscar Schuehle, Earl Boon, Earl Starnes, L. J. Brucks, — Hickman, Fletcher Davis, Aug Schroeder, Edward Cameron, O. H. Miller, F. H. Schweers, Misses Bess and Lillian Brucks, Lucille de Montel, Octavia Davis and the hostesses.

The hostesses for the next regular meeting will be Mrs. O. H. Miller, Mrs. Garland Martin and Miss Lucille de Montel.

PURPOSES OF RETAIL MERCHANTS ASSOCIATION.

Mention was made last week of the organization of a local Retail Merchants Association in Hondo.

Regarding the purposes of the organization, members with whom a representative of this paper has conferred offer the following.

The object of this association is to furnish credit protection to all its members and to promote cooperation for the purpose of creating a business-like and fair system of and for handling of credits, and to eliminate existing trade evils which are detrimental to the merchants and to the buying public.

To co-operate with other local associations throughout the State whose objects are the betterment of the retail business and promotion of a better understanding between the merchant and his customers.

To promote a fair and honorable competition between its members, encourage the strict enforcement of all laws and ordinances regulating retail trade, further honest advertising and clean business methods.

To furnish credit rating on individuals for mutual protection of its members and to keep in operation a reliable credit rating system in charge of a salaried secretary.

This organization has been created in the interest of fair and honorable business dealings in this community. People with honest intentions need not fear its operations since the character of these will only be enhanced in effect. On the other hand, bad traders and those with dishonest intentions to encroach on the good will and liberality of merchants and professional men are to be known as a protection to the merchants. Every worth-while trading center has found it necessary to organize these protective associations. Hondo is now responding to the need. It is sincerely believed that an accompanying effect of the association will be to encourage thrift, industry and more prompt business methods and for these reasons it will prove a splendid public benefit. It should also minimize merchants losses and thus tend to economy.

The RETAIL MERCHANTS ASSOCIATION has other beneficial features which it will strive to carry out. The 'dry' 'hot' 'cold' or habitual check writer will come under the espionage of the organization and be made responsive to the terms of the stringent Texas bogus check laws. Also its permanent advertising committee will endeavor to protect the community from the pest of fraudulent advertising solicitors and sellers of cheap unwarranted goods.

This has been a long felt need in Hondo, and the more strictly the merchants follow its purposes the better it will be for the honest buyer who tries to meet his accounts and the harder it will be for the dead-beat to get in his crooked work.

There was an association organized here some eighteen or twenty years ago, but indifference and lack of co-operation allowed it to demise. No doubt the merchants of Hondo have paid the cost of maintaining it over and over several times in the loss of bad accounts which the Association might have saved them.

SHE TELLS THE STORY OF MANY OTHERS

Dr. W. C. Rountree, Texarkana, Texas.

Dear Doctor:—About 8 years ago I was taken with a bad case of stomach trouble. I got better in Winter and worse in Spring and Summer. I suffered untold agonies, took many kinds of medicine and found no relief. After four years I broke out with something that looked like sun burn. At first it appeared on my hands, later on my face and neck. My mouth got sore, feet burned and swelled until I could hardly walk. My heart beat too fast and I had a hurting in my chest. Some one sent you my name and you sent me one of your little books and Questionnaire, but I did not order your treatment at first. I waited thinking I would get better, but instead I got worse. Finally I got so bad that I could not walk 20 steps without resting. I ordered your Pellagra treatment and on the 9th. day of July 1926 I began taking it. I soon saw that it was helping me and by the time I had taken one treatment the rash and many of the other symptoms had disappeared. I have taken four treatments and am entirely relieved of all symptoms of Pellagra. I appreciate the honesty and kindness with which you have dealt with me, for I have found everything that you told me about the treatment to be just like you said. I want to ask all who have this disease to not put off ordering your treatment like I did for while they are waiting this terrible disease is stealing their life away.

In the Kitchen with 6 Famous Cooks

SIX TRADITIONAL NEW ENGLAND DISHES

(Ed. Note: This is one of a special series of articles contributed by 6 Famous Cooks. Their recipes are "different." Cut them out and paste them in your cook book.)

Probably no section of the country is as famous for its traditional dishes as New England. The eating of beans and brown bread has become almost a rite in many of those old homes.

Miss Lucy G. Allen, head of the well-known Boston School of Cookery, has spent all her life in New England. She has taught hundreds of women cooking in her classes, and has written many cook books, among them "Choice Dishes for Clever Cooks," and "Table Service."

She has contributed to this unusual cooking series recipes for six typically New England dishes.

Boston Bake Beans
It's the preparation and the slow cooking which makes Boston Baked Beans superior to all others. Pick over one quart of pea or kidney beans, cover with cold water and soak over night. In the morning, drain, cover with fresh water and simmer until the skins begin to break. Drain again. Wash and score a three-inch cube of fat salt pork. Put the beans in a big, earthenware beanpot. Bury the pork in the beans, leaving the rind exposed. Mix one tablespoon of salt, one tablespoon of molasses, three tablespoons of sugar, and one-half teaspoon of dry mustard; add these seasonings to one cup of boiling water and pour over the beans. Then add enough boiling water to cover the beans. Cover the beanpot, put in hot oven and bake six or eight hours, uncovering the last hour of cooking.

Steamed Brown Bread

For a most delectable meal, serve steaming hot brown bread with the beans. It's a prime combination. Many folks like to eat catsup with the beans. Here's the original New England Brown Bread:

Mix two cups cornmeal, one cup of rye meal, two teaspoons of soda, two teaspoons of salt, one-half cup of molasses and about three and one-half cups of milk. Let stand for one hour, stirring occasionally. The bread is better if the meal swells before the mixture is put into the tin. Butter, baking-powder, tins, fill a little over one-half full, cover and steam several hours.

And Chowder

A hearty dish liked especially by men, is fish chowder. It's economical, too. Buy a four pound haddock skinned with the head left on. Remove the fish from the backbone, cut into two inch pieces and set aside. Put the backbone broken in pieces and the head into a stewpan; add two cups of cold water, bring slowly to the boiling point and cook twenty minutes. Put into the chowder kettle an inch and a half cube of fat salt pork cut into small bits, and fry out.

Add one sliced onion and fry for five minutes. Add three or four medium sized potatoes cut in thin slices. Strain the stock from the fish bones over the potatoes and cook until they are soft.

Add the fish and simmer ten minutes, then add one quart of milk, one tablespoon of salt, one-eighth teaspoon of pepper, three tablespoons of butter and either three or four pieces of pilot bread or six or seven cooking crackers. The longer a chowder can simmer or stand before serving the better it will be.

Codfish Balls
Wash one-half pound of salt cod-fish and cut into small pieces using kitchen scissors to make one cupful. Wash and pare potatoes and cut into pieces the size of an English walnut to make one and one-half pints. Cook the fish and potatoes together in boiling water until potatoes are soft.

Drain thoroughly through a strainer, return to kettle and shake over the fire until the moisture is evaporated. Mash thoroughly, add one-half tablespoonful of grated walnut oil well beaten and one-fourth teaspoon of pepper. Beat well with a fork to make fluffy and add salt if necessary. Drop by spoonfuls into deep fat and fry.

Pumpkin Pie
Pumpkin pie when made right is a real delicacy. And this recipe for it is especially good. For a more elaborate dish it may be served with whipped cream.

For the pastry, measure two cups of flour unsifted and sift with one-half teaspoon of salt. Cut in, using two knives, three-fourths cup of lard. Add three-fourths cup of medium cream mixing with a knife. Chill before using.

For the filling, mix one and one-half cups of cooked and sifted pumpkin, with two-thirds cup of white sugar, one teaspoon of grated nutmeg, one-half teaspoon of salt, two eggs slightly beaten and two cups of milk or if liked rich, use part cream.

Nice Brown Doughnuts
Try frying sour milk doughnuts according to this good New England recipe of Miss Allen's. The kitchen will be a most attractive place to all members of the family when they smell these tempting doughnuts.

Beat until light one whole egg and one egg yolk, add gradually three-fourths cup of sugar, beating all the time. Mix three-fourths teaspoon of salt, one teaspoon of grated nutmeg and two cups of flour.

Mix one half teaspoon of soda with one half cup of sour milk having the milk rather rich. Add milk and flour alternately to the egg mixture, roll and pat out, handling as little as possible, then cut and fry in deep fat.

(Be sure to read the special cooking article on this page next week.)

MEDINA COUNTY BOY GOES TO EUROPE.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Hardt, of Hondo, Texas, spent a few days this week at mission board headquarters of the M. E. Church, South, at Nashville, preparatory to sailing for Poland, where they will take up missionary work under the Southern Methodist mission board.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hardt are well known in Methodist circles in Texas, Mr. Hardt having three brothers in the Methodist ministry in that state, namely, Rev. Wesley Hardt at Wiergate; Rev. Dan Hardt at Paige; and Rev. L. D. Hardt, generally known at "Happy Hardt", at Crystal City. His Sister, Miss Alice Hardt, is a teacher at Roberts College, Southern Methodist mission school at Saltillo, Mexico. Mr. Hardt's other brothers are Prof. H. B. Hart, at Texas Woman's College, Fort Worth; B. F. Hardt, at Brownsville, and A. J. Hardt, at Hondo.

Mrs. Hardt, formerly Miss Ruby Pearl Dunn, of McKinney, Texas, was prominently identified with Student Volunteer work while a student at Southwestern University, Georgetown, and has been for some time an active member of the Epworth League in her home church.

Prior to leaving Texas, Mr. and Mrs. Hardt were tendered a farewell reception by the members of the First Methodist Church at McKinney.

Mr. and Mrs. Hardt are both graduates of Southwestern University and of Vanderbilt University, Nashville, having taken their Master of Arts degrees in that institution in 1926. Mr. Hardt also attended Southern Methodist University, Dallas, as a student in the school of theology. He is a graduate of the school of religion at Vanderbilt.

Sailing for Europe October 9, Mr. and Mrs. Hardt will go direct to Warsaw. It is probable that they will be appointed to work in Little White Russia.

Boston School of Cookery Tests and Approves

Miss Lucy G. Allen, director of the school, tells her experience with the Perfection Oil Stove.

MISS LUCY ALLEN, director of the conservative Boston School of Cookery, is one of six famous cooks who recently put the Perfection Stove to a rigorous, practical cooking test. Like the other five famous cooks, Miss Allen cooked by every cooking process, and gave us her opinion of the Perfection.

Uniformly Good Results

"I cooked many meals on the Perfection Stove," says Miss Allen. "The results, whether using the top of the stove, the oven, the broiler, or the toaster were uniformly good. There were several features sufficiently pronounced to recommend the stove to the most particular people.

Easy to Work on

"The Perfection is an easy stove to work on. There is no reaching across several hot plates, as there is with a gas or coal range.

"The flame never varied from the point at which it was set, whether it was low for stewing down pumpkin or high for baking beans several hours.

Clean Kettles

"There was no black deposit on the cooking utensils, even when the high, yellow tipped flame was used for broiling steak.

"The long chimneys burn every drop of oil completely before the heat reaches the utensils.

"We were so well pleased with the 1926 Perfection Stove, both as to results and operation, that after completing the test we kept it to use for auxiliary work in our classes," she concluded.

Tested and approved by the Boston School of Cookery! That means that the Perfection was used under all possible cooking conditions—for slow cooking, for fast cooking; for baking, for frying, and for broiling. In every case it was found efficient.

Six Cooks Agree

The other five famous cooks who tested the Perfection were enthusiastic, too, about the results obtained. And, every day 4,500,000 women get real cooking satisfaction from their Perfections.

See these 1926 Perfections at any dealer's. All sizes from a one-burner stove at $7.25 to a five-burner range at $130.00. When you cook on a 1926 Perfection, you, too, will be well pleased with it.

Are You "Toxic?"

It Is Well, Then, to Learn the Importance of Good Elimination.

FUNCTIONAL inactivity of the kidneys permits a retention of waste poisons in the blood. Symptoms of this toxic condition are a dull, languid feeling, drowsy headaches and, sometimes, toxic backache and dizziness. That the kidneys are not functioning as they should is often shown by scanty or burning passage of secretions. Many readers have learned the value of Doan's Pills, stimulant diuretic to the kidneys, in this condition. Users everywhere endorse Doan's. Ask your neighbor!
